

Signing Up for Vote Forward

1. Go to votefwd.org, and register for a volunteer account using your email address, your Facebook account, or your Google account.

Tip: Make sure you always log in to your Vote Forward account using the same method that you used to register to ensure continued access to your account. If you used your email address and password, make sure you save the password somewhere safe in case you forget!

2. If you used your email address to register for Vote Forward, check your email inbox for a message from "hello@votefwd.org." Click the "Register" button to confirm your email address and then continue with the registration process. If you don't receive the email, check to see if it went to spam, junk, or Gmail's Promotions tab. If you registered with your Facebook or Google account, you will not need to confirm your email address.
3. As you proceed through the registration process, you will be asked to answer a few quick questions. You can also provide a link (URL) to a social media profile to help speed up the approval process. Because a human reviews every application, approval can take a day or so depending on volume. Providing a social media profile is optional, but please be sure to write a complete statement in response to the prompt.
4. When you are approved, you will receive a welcome email from Vote Forward with the subject line: "You're approved to send letters on Vote Forward", and you can get started writing letters.
